Message from the Headteacher

Dear Parents,

Early reading has been a big focus around school this week. Our F1 children enjoyed a visit from the outreach and engagement workers from Central Children's Centre who read them a story and gave them a new Bookstart bag with a book and activities to share at home. Lots of parents from F2 and Y1 have also been into school to try some Read, Write Inc activities with their children and find out more about how they are learning to read.

Congratulations to all the members of the Lions house who won our Big Cat Tokens award for good behaviour in the Autumn term. They have chosen their very own non-uniform day as a reward so next Monday, 27th January, only members of the Lions house will not need to wear their uniform to school. If your child is in this house you will get more information from Mrs Roddis today.

On Friday 7th February we will be holding our next family breakfast as part of NSPCC number day. We hope that lots of families will be able to come along and play some maths games with their children while helping us raise money for such a good cause. During the day there will be lots of maths activities happening around school and the children can dress us with a number theme if they would like to. There are some simple costume ideas on a poster in the classrooms if they would help!

Have a lovely weekend, Miss Stothard
